Foreword

EVERY girl or boy has at some time or another kept a scrapbook to aid his memory in recalling events of the glorious past. We do not care to forget great moments in our lives. It is a pleasure to look back at our well-earned successes and unforgettable activities.

The MESSENGER here is intended to be a scrapbook of memories of the school year 1945-1946. On its pages are pictures of our fellow students, teachers, and activities. To remind us in years to come of the important—and unimportant—bits of information that now pop unbidden into our minds as we glance at these pictures, we have done some writing here and there, put in a few type-written pages, and pasted in newspaper clippings and other souvenirs. We hope you'll chuckle again over some incidents recalled, turn serious over great events, and perhaps even shed a tear over others.

May our scrapbook keep forever alive the wonderful days we have spent in Durham High School!

Dedication

To

MR. PAUL G. SYKES

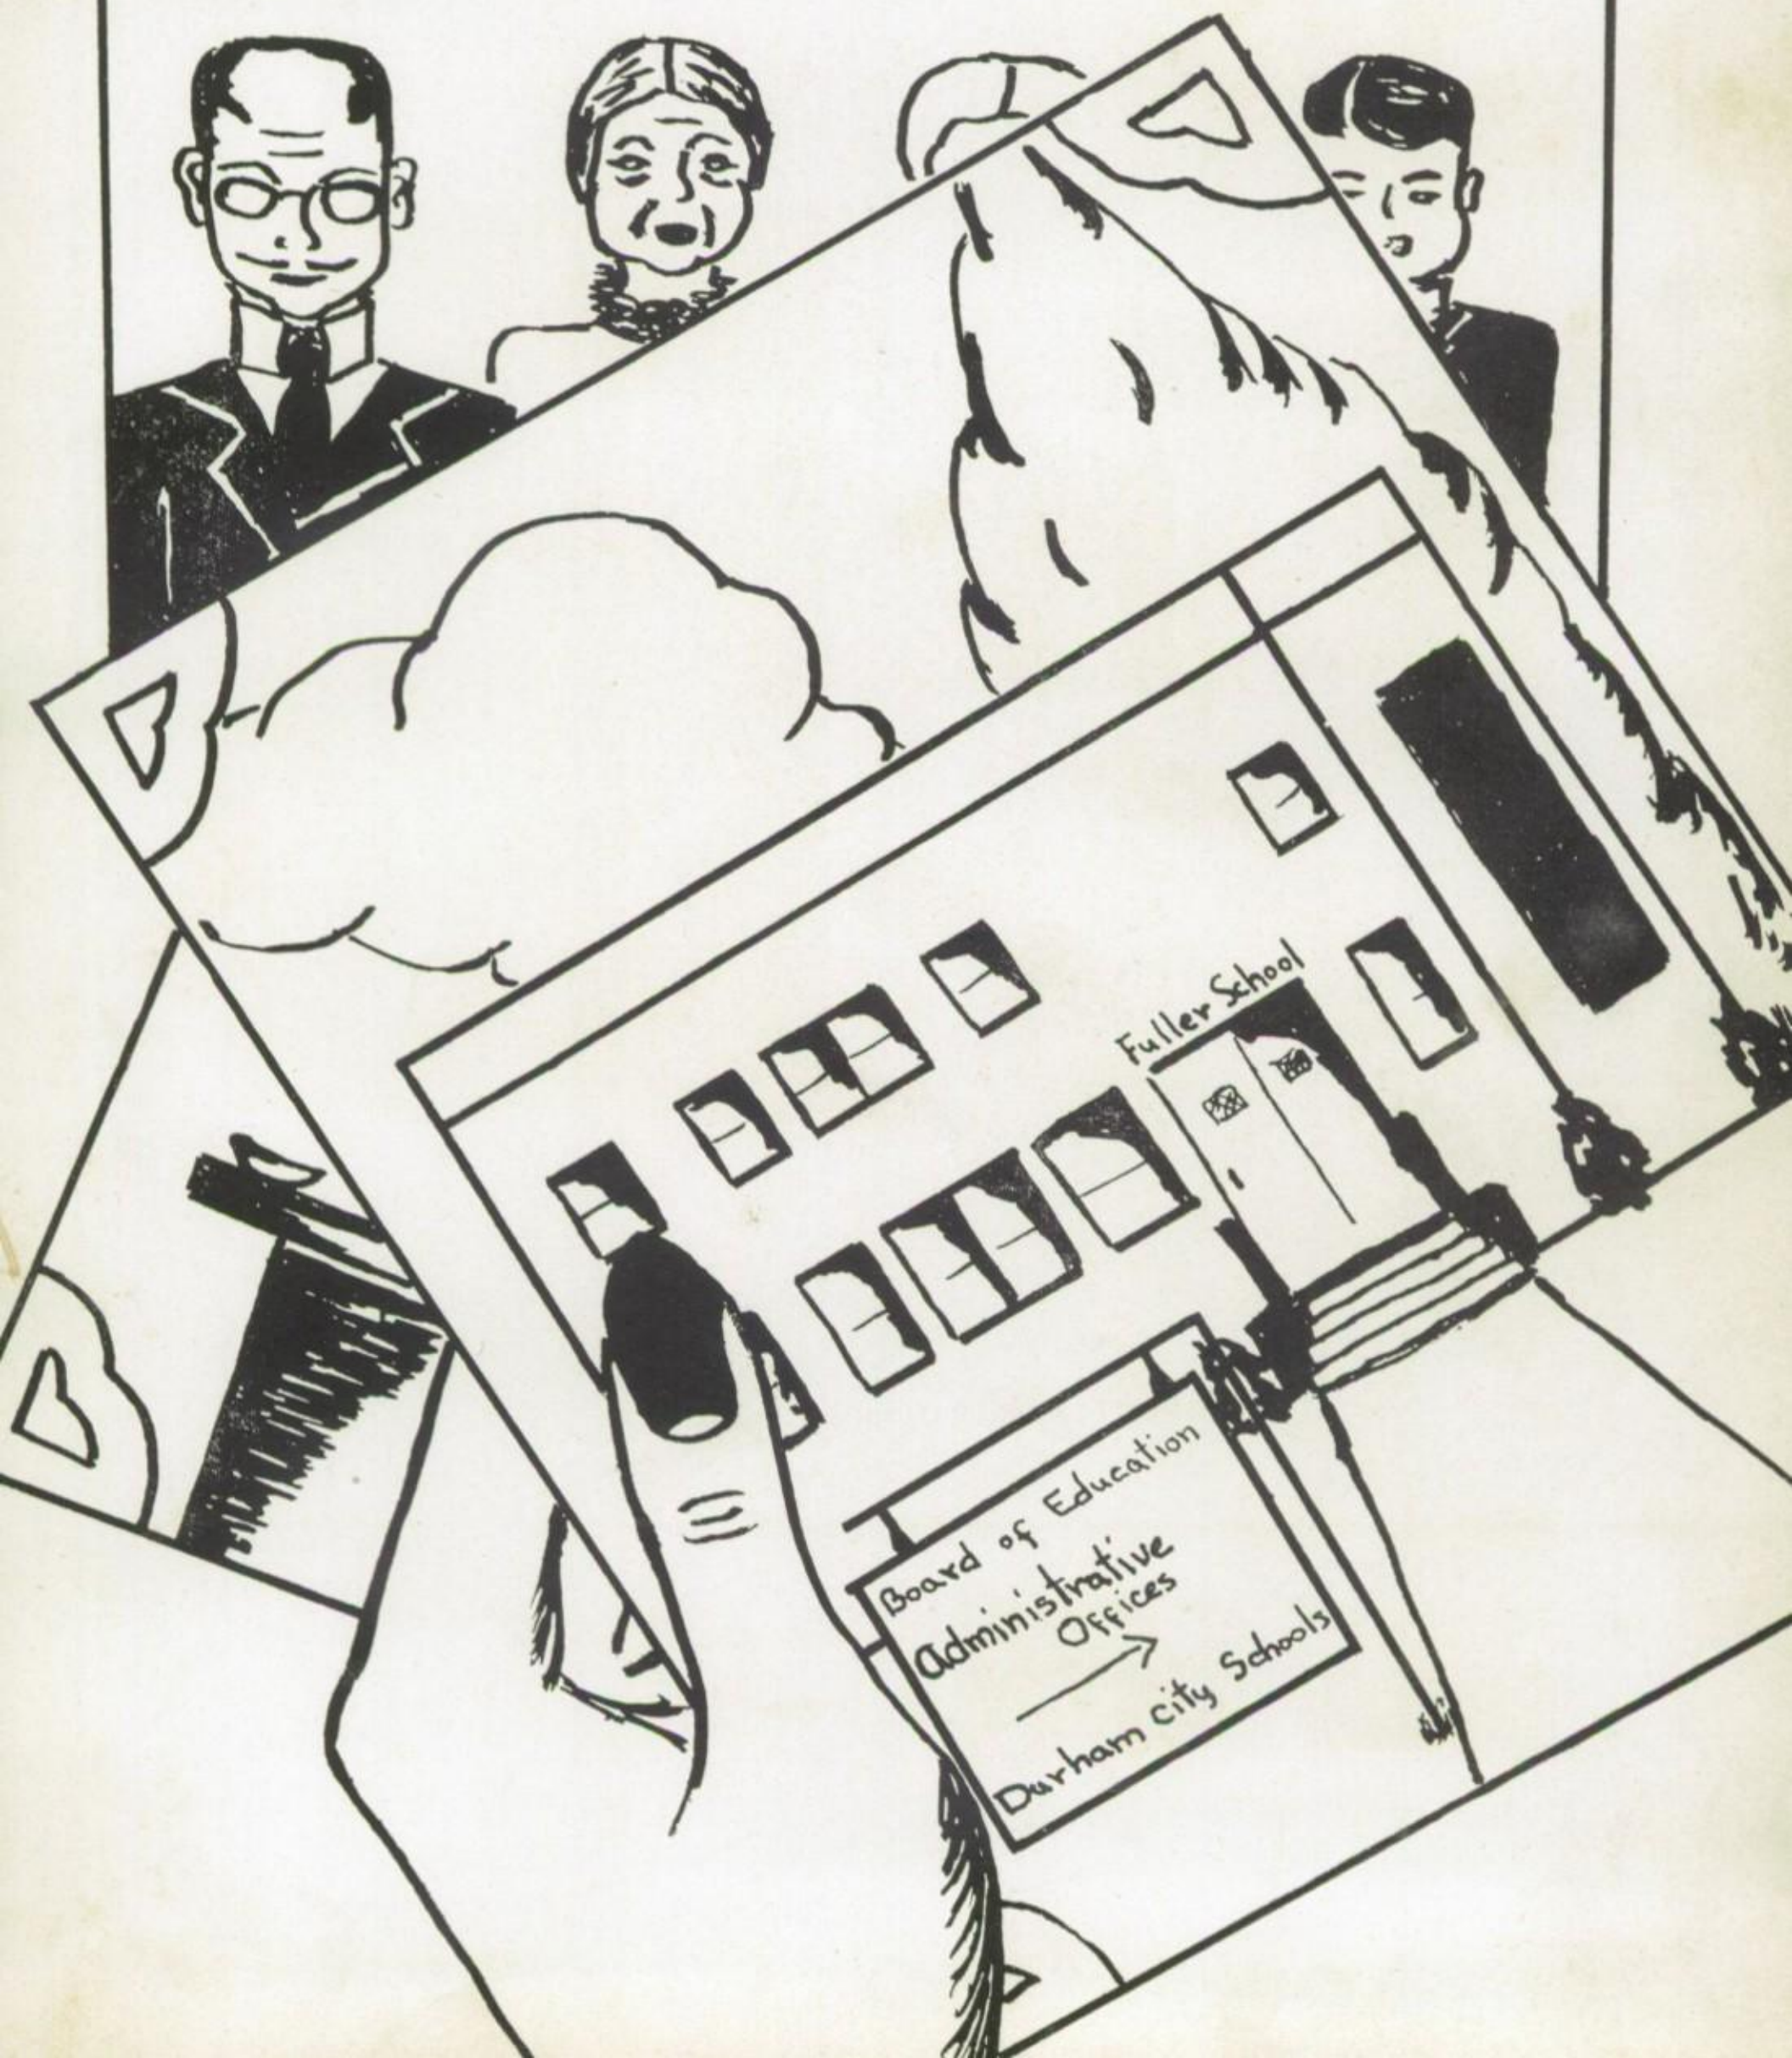

We of the class of nineteen hundred and forty-six dedicate this MESSENGER in token of our deep appreciation of his outstanding leadership in promoting athletics, good sportsmanship, and a fine school spirit in Durham High School. For all that he has done to show us the way to a life that is rich, full, and clean, we give him our love and thanks.

Mrs. Lois Foote Stanford

For her service to the schools of Durham, we honor
Mrs. Lois Foote Stanford, who resigned from the Board of Education in the fall of 1945.

English Department

Seated: Miss Marguerite M. Herr, Director; standing: Miss Mary Jane Edwards, Miss Frances Briggs, Miss Belle Hampton, Mrs. Frances C. Horner, Miss Mary Elizabeth Suitt.

"When shall we three meet again
In thunder, lightning, or in rain?"

"We shall meet right here after school, if you don't know that quotation from Macbeth!" Miss Herr would answer.

Miss Herr and all of the teachers in her department impressed upon us the importance of reading with understanding and appreciation, and of writing and speaking with clearness and effectiveness. The journalism course in particular gave us practical experience in writing for publication.

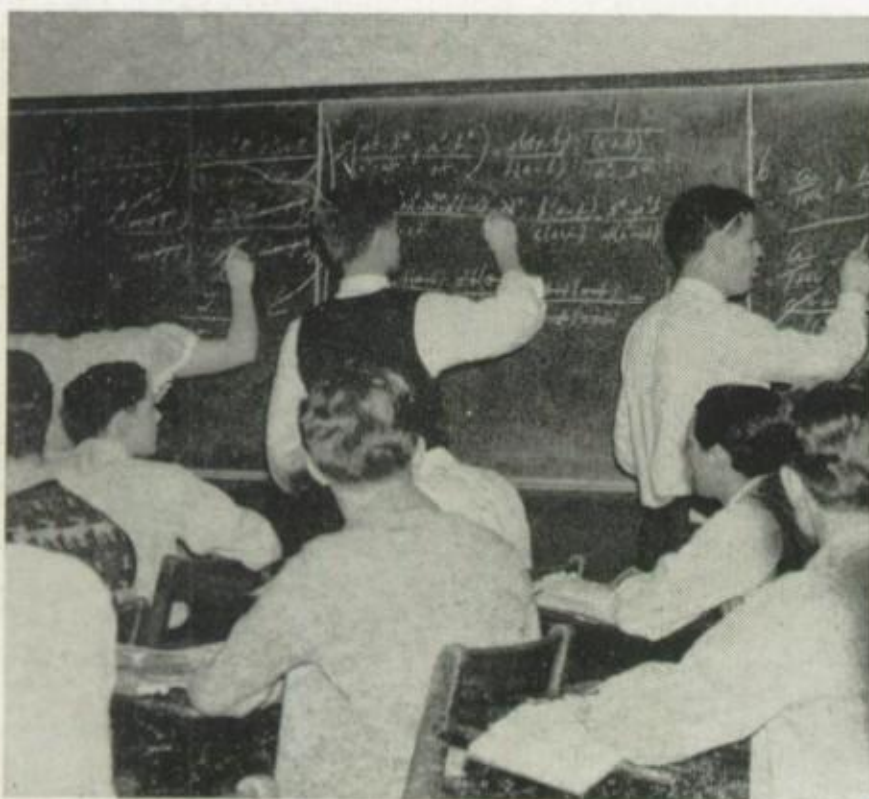

Our three years of English in the Senior High School are most important, for it is by our speech and writing that we are known.

Math Department

Mrs. Margaret Richardson, Mr. B. L. deBruyne, Miss Louise Watkins, Mrs. Rosalie Elliott, Mrs. Natalie Green.

"Watch the board, while I run through it again."

With a barely perceptible sigh of weariness our algebra teacher "ran through it" again and again while we watched and marveled. Following each step closely, we saw at last how it was done. The problem had actually been "put across!" Our patient teacher said weakly, "The assignment for tomorrow. . . ."

Some of us became so enthusiastic that we took two years of algebra and one year of plane geometry—or even more! We who are most mathematically inclined were in "Pop" deBruyne's trigonometry and solid geometry class.

"Come on, fella, eas-y!" he said—and it became easy.

Science Department

Seated: Mrs. Edna H. Branch, Mr. Glenn W. Bunting, Director, Miss Dorothy Wilson; standing: Miss Ruby M. Williams, Miss Betty Clutts.

The wide horizons offered by science in the post-war world have brought more students than ever before into the science classes. Both girls and boys have discovered that physics, chemistry, and biology are as interesting and exciting as they are instructive.

Remember that frog we dissected?—and that excruciating rotten-egg odor we created in chemistry lab?—and the fit our electro-magnet gave those nails? How could we forget?

Foreign Language Department

Standing: Miss Elizabeth Hunter; seated: Miss Susie Michaels, Director, Miss Faye Champion, Mrs. Loie Christie.

It's a small world, and it's getting smaller all the time! The ever-tightening mesh of world relations makes a knowledge of some foreign language almost essential. Miss Michaels and the other teachers in her department gave us two years of Spanish, two years of French, and four years of Latin. Although all of the language courses are elective, a large majority of us took one or more languages.

Commercial Department

Seated: Miss Jessie Crosby; standing: Mr. John Deeds, Miss Ruth Cordle, Mrs. Sylvia Eiteman.

"Rrrrrrr . . . ing . . . stop!" Typing students were more than familiar with that sound by the end of this year. It's for those speed tests. They taught us that speed and accuracy are equally essential. We senior shorthand students were pleased to learn that having a knowledge of shorthand enables us to take complete notes during a class.

Our Commercial Department is one that many of us took advantage of, for our classes in typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and office practice prepared us for the business world.

Social Science Department

Miss Inez Page, Mrs. Belle Gholson, Director,
Mrs. Maude Heflin.

Remember ye ole history class?—and “Ma” Gholson, Miss Page, and Mrs. Heflin? We students became acquainted with the social sciences through courses in American government, economics, industrial geography, sociology, and ancient, medieval, and modern history. These studies make up the “family” that deals with human relationships. How appropriate it is that “Ma” should be the head of the family! Remember hearing her say that we “just live together, students and teachers?”

Home Economics

Flour, baking powder, sugar, salt, eggs, milk, butter—that's not all it takes to make a successful cake; baking is an art that demands an artist's skill. Miss Woolworth and Miss Umberger told us so!

We third-year girls will never forget the wonderful week-ends we spent practicing the art of home-making in the Home Economics Cottage. Over a period of a three-year course we learned to cook, to sew, and to manage a home. One of our most interesting projects was the re-decoration of the teachers' lounge.

Poor boys! Preoccupied with their sports and such, they did feel very masculine in their aloofness—but what a lot of fun they missed!

Miss Margaret Umberger, Miss Frances Woolworth.

The Library

MISS FLORINE LEWTER, Librarian

We're eternally grateful for the week Miss Lewter taught our sophomore English class!

Sophomores learn the arrangement of books, the use of a card catalog and "Reader's Guide," the use and merits of dictionaries and encyclopedias, and the art of making bibliographies. They discover the presence in the library of 5,400 books, fifty-five magazines, six daily newspapers (two foreign), college catalogs, vocational information, splendid reference books, and collections of pictures, pamphlets, and victrola records.

Music Department

"Ooo . . . o . . . aww . . . ahh . . . aaa . . . eee . . .," over and over again.

My, were we glad when "Fessor" passed us the song sheets! Vocalizing is necessary, however, and Mr. Twaddell says the music is going to sung right, or not at all. Just to be directed by "Fessor" was a privilege worth far more to us than that one-half unit of credit.

Mr. Enloe led the band to fame, too. What a thrill of pride ran up our spines when we saw the Durham High School Band, led by its trim majorettes, go marching by! As for those of us who marched—well, our buttons weren't forever popping off for nothing.

Vocal Director

MR. LEWIS H. ENLOE
Instrumental Director

Art Department

MRS. MARY L. MASON
Director

The art lovers among us enjoyed excellent opportunities for cultivating good taste, artistic skills, and an acquaintance with the famous artistic geniuses of the ages.

Although the courses in her department are strictly electives, Mrs. Mason, our beloved teacher, makes the three-year art course very popular. Her success is indeed obvious when we see Durham High School students carrying off highest honors in one art contest after another. We point with pride to our artists and their guide.

... On the other hand some of us art students showed no signs of blossoming into Michelangelos, adore our efforts though we might. Remember those sadly unidentifiable creatures the luckless few carved out of soap? Hide thine eyes, oh muse!

Bible Department

Lesson to be learned from the story of Samson: "Never trust a woman!" We Bible students weren't all quite that discerning, but one student was. Miss King must have found many of our bits of misinformation and misinterpretations more amusing than discouraging.

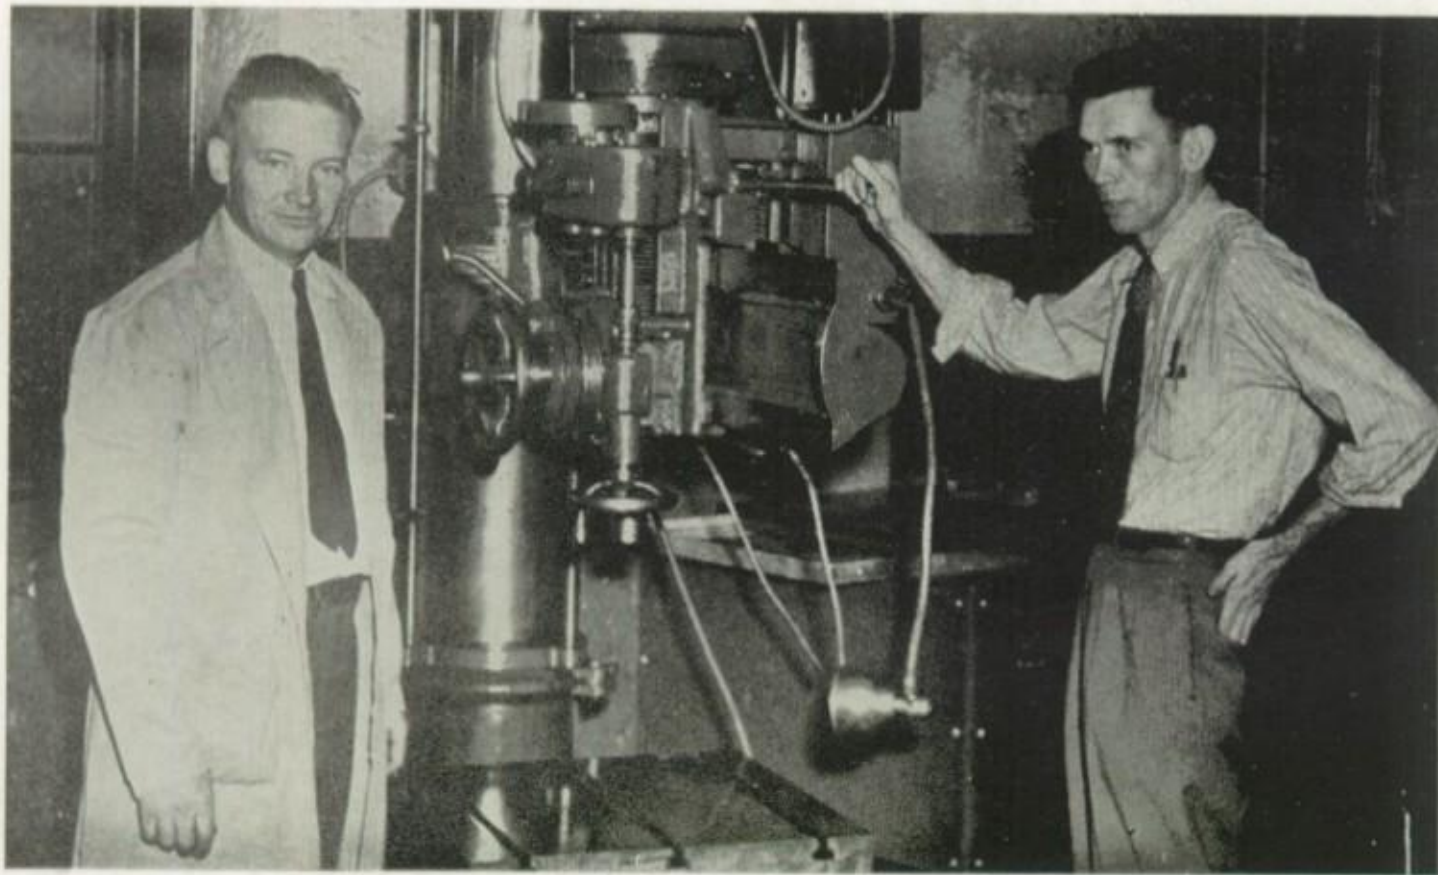

Bible is one of the popular elective courses. Many of us completed the two-year course. The first year is a study of the Old and New Testaments; the second, a study of the Prophets and Epistles. We shall always remember our Bible Course.

MISS EDNA KING
Director

Industrial Arts Department

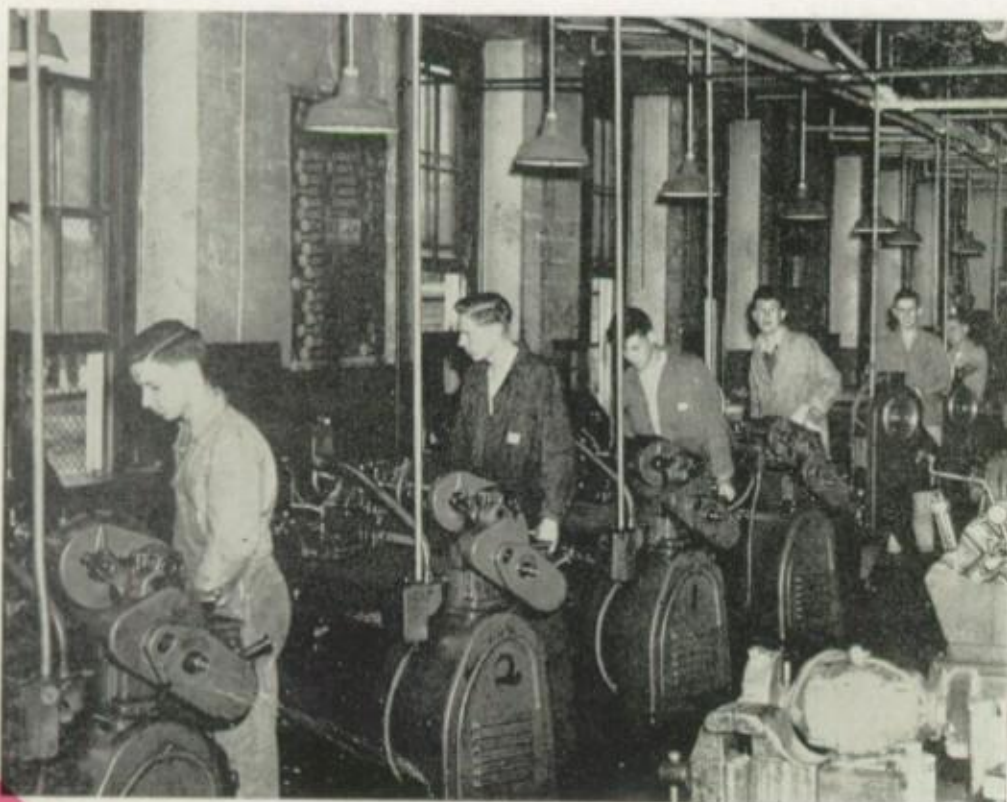

MR. H. C. COLLINS AND MR. GLENN PALVER

Waiting in the cold lunch line for some of those luscious sandwiches and pastries, we girls have often been awed by the unnatural sounds that issue forth from the basement windows on that side of the building. A curious grinding sound has led us to wonder what strange things those are that dwell in the lower regions of our school.

The boys, brave creatures, are unimpressed.

Unlike us they have often ventured into the midst of those terrifying machines and have actually learned how to make them "tick." The boys who take industrial arts work in the vocational machine shop or study the arts of woodwork and mechanical drawing. They spend more time in their industrial arts class than in any other, but of course they also receive more credit for work in that class.

All of the courses in this department are popular electives. The boys who learn the industrial arts are in a very practical way preparing themselves for life in the Machine Age—and enjoying the process.

Physical Education Department

Poor Hall Patrols! How can they keep order when there is an intramural game going on in the gym? Intramural sports for both boys and girls were enthusiastically carried out through the year, for sports have always been an outstanding feature in Durham High School. Under the direction of Miss Lietner,

Mr. Sykes, Mr. Baucom and Mr. Emmerson, athletics have soared high again this year.

Most of us didn't stop taking gym after the two required years, but took the third, also. Our memories of sports in Durham High School will ever be vivid.

Coöperative Class

"Miss Maude" is in a class to herself—and a very high one. She is the head of her department, and she is the only one in it. As far as "her boys" are concerned, her department is quite adequately staffed.

These boys of hers, thanks to her guidance, succeed in combing school with jobs. They attend school during a part of the day that is agreeable to them and their employers and are taught most of the courses they desire by Miss Maude herself. Admittance to the class is such a coveted honor that there is always a waiting list, and the "Coöp" room is always filled to its capacity.

Her graduating seniors will, like all their predecessors, remember her with love and deepest respect.

The Senior Class

A fellow doesn't quite realize how much fun he's had in school until the day he wears that cap and gown and comes to the realization that "it's over." We seniors feel the aching symptoms of homesickness. Along with the hard work there has been the fellowship with our teachers and classmates to make our three years at Durham High School invaluable.

We have a lot of memories to hold to. A glance at the picture (in the ads) of our senior play cast on the set of "Little Women" brings back a host of memories to those of us in the cast, on committees, and in the audience. Then, as we see the snaps of the Junior-Senior Prom, we re-live the fun we had. At the last there was the excitement of hearing that Joe and Jane passed their exams after all, that Lynda Byers and Harold Andrews were valedictorian and salutatorian, and that Harold won the International Civitan Essay contest. All this excitement was increased by the pleasant business of signing autograph books, practicing our Class Day program, and presenting to the school our gift, a combination radio and record-player. Our storehouse of memories is full.

"Ambassadors of Good Will," our Class Day theme, created in each of us a desire to go forth into the world with the aim of making it a better place in which to live. With this aim in our hearts, our class, the class of '46, leaves Durham High School as Ambassadors of Good Will, taking with us fond memories of our high school days.

The Junior Class

Buddy Spain, Vice-Pres.; Henry Bullock, Pres.; Jack Brown, Treas.; Mary Maughan, Sec.

Calling all juniors! Calling all juniors! Let's give out our best efforts and put this over!

That's just what they did in all the drives, programs, club projects, and athletics during the year.

A glimpse at the officers explains the dynamic efforts of the class. Henry Bullock, as president, led it to each of its successes ably assisted by Buddy, Mary, and Jack. Mary Maughan became a special celebrity when she and Nick Galifianakis represented the juniors in Winston-Salem at the North Central District Convention of high school student councils. She was elected treasurer of the convention for next year.

The climax and grand finale was the social the juniors sponsored in honor of the seniors. To finance the dance, an entertaining and enticing student talent show was given. Thanks to the show's financial success and to the enthusiasm of all the committees, the Junior-Senior Prom was the best in many a day. There were beautiful decorations and invitations, an excellent band, elaborate refreshments, and a hilarious teacher talent show at intermission for the entertainment of the king and queen of the prom.

Here's luck to you, rising seniors! We expect great things from you who succeed us. Fare you well, and fare you good!

Sophomore Class

BANG! Remember how the sophomore class set out thus in the fall of '46 to set a sparkling record of eager participation in varied school activities? Joe Hamilton, president; Guy Fornes, vice-president; Mike Galifianakis, secretary, and Elmo Gates, treasurer, set the pace.

Members starred in several dramatic productions, took part in diverse programs, and joined the staffs of the Hi-Rocket and the MESSENGER to display their ability to the school and make the upper-classmen look to their laurels.

The sophomore boys' basketball team won the intramural championship, and their football squad made a good showing against junior high teams and high school junior varsities.

For and by sophomores exclusively, a social was held on the twelfth of April, with dancing and a talent show at intermission—the first time such a class social had been held in several years.

When in later years you read this brief account, you can rest assured that our class will be doing great deeds.

Guy Fornes, Joe Hamilton, Mike Galifianakis, Elmo Gates.

The Coöperative Class

MISS MAUDE ROGERS, Adviser

"The Coöps are taking the lead again! Honestly, they are the very backbone of every worthwhile campaign in the school!"

The class of 1946, boasting an enrollment of fifty-seven members, sixteen of whom are veterans, began its silver anniversary in September by topping the school in the sale of athletic tickets with an all-time high of 217 tickets sold. The class contributed generously during the year to the Red Cross, Community Chest, and the March of Dimes, and bought or sold over $5,000 worth of Victory bonds.

Entertaining 150 guests at the fall social in the Forest Hills Country Club, celebrating with a Christmas party before the holidays, and presenting a one-act play, "The New Boy," in March, were highlights of the year's activities. The annual educational tour of Williamsburg, Jamestown, Yorktown, and Richmond, Virginia, had again to be given up because of transportation difficulties.

What makes membership a privilege worth working and waiting for? It is partly the chance to combine successfully jobs with school; it is partly the exceptionally interesting activities of the class; but chiefly, they say, it is the wonderful class spirit which has been steadily maintained through the years under the leadership of their beloved "Miss Maude."

ACTIVITIES

Extra-Curricular Activities

WE'VE already spent a few happy hours swapping memories. In our daydreaming we have, for instance, again attended classes and laughed at Tom, Dick, and Harry's boners and Miss ——'s dull jokes. We have, besides, confirmed our opinion about Mary's being a sophomore rather than a junior. Our reminiscing indeed is well begun, but there is more—much more!

The extra-curricular activities, to many of us, actually meant as much as our classes. Our courses of study increased our knowledge, but our clubs and publications offered us experience in the practical application of that knowledge. These activities provided us with an opportunity to group ourselves according to our common interests. It was in these congenial groups that our ambitions began to become realities; that our interesting and beneficial hobbies were acquired; and that many of our abilities, sometimes overlooked in curricular activities, were both recognized and developed.

Yes, the extra-curricular activities have provided us with a generous store of memories. Far be it from us to belittle them!

The Student Council, 1945-46

The Student Council, under the capable leadership of Whit Cobb, president, and Mr. C. R. Baucom, adviser, sponsored several outstanding events of the year. A football dance was given in honor of the football players and a Student Talent Program was given as a means of raising funds for the treasury. These events proved to be very successful. A lost and found bureau was established in order that students might claim missing articles. Emphasis this year was placed on the duties and the responsibilities of the hall patrol. A Handbook of Rules and Regulations of the School has been founded by the Council for future use and enforcement. Through the various activities of the Council this year they have laid the foundation for a better student government in the years to come.

Freedom of speech? Freedom of the press? Freedom without knowledge is dangerous! We believe in learning how to use it. How? By practice in our "English laboratories"—our publications.

In the Hi-Rocket we have experimented with the journalistic principles some of us studied in class. Our reporters have developed collectively a very large nose for news; indeed they keep themselves and the whole student body abreast of the times in school affairs. We have learned to weed out rumors and to publish the truth.

In the MESSENGER we have in a somewhat different way experimented with means of communication. We have combined the talents of our artists, writers, photographers, typists, salesmen—even politicians and scientists—in our efforts to produce a true and interesting chronicle of the year—a chronicle that places all activities and achievements in positions proportionate to their importance.

We who, with our advisers pictured above, have labored long and hard on the publications are justly proud of our success.

MESSENGER Editors—Seated: Modean Glenn, Eloise Parker, Elizabeth Owen. Standing: Ruth Seeley, Beverly Ross, Francine Mellon.

Notice on the "Morning Bulletin": There will be an important meeting of all members of the 1946 MESSENGER Staff in Room 306 at the activity period today for the purpose of electing the editors and discussing possible themes.

Thus our year began. Eloise Parker, Modean Glenn, and Elizabeth Owen were elected as editor-in-chief, literary editor, and photography editor respectively. Ruth Seeley was appointed art editor, and in a separate meeting, Beverly Ross and Francine Mellon were, on a basis of their success in selling ads, made co-business managers. A hard-working team we were indeed! We had to be. Ours was the first year of peace in what seemed an eternity, but reconversion was definitely in process. We were beset with difficulties, but we never became discouraged—well, HARDLY ever.

This year's editors, like our war-time editors, were unable to attend the Columbia Press Association Yearbook Convention, but our new adviser, Miss Edwards, who managed to get a hotel room in spite of the Navy, came back brimful of enthusiasm and ideas. Next year's editors, who have already been elected and selected from our candidates, should be more fortunate. Success to them!

As the ink dried on the last issue of the Hi-Rocket for 1945-46, Durham High School's publication completed twenty-six years of service to school and community.

A group of enthusiastic journalists, led by their editor, Roger Davis, now a member of the Durham High faculty, sent to press the infant four-page edition of the Hi-Rocket in the fall of 1920. Today the paper boasts a record of twenty-six school years of continuous publication.

The Columbia Scholastic Press Association, the largest and most powerful organization of its kind in America, has been a decided factor in the advancement of our school paper. The Hi-Rocket, a charter member of this organization, received a bronze feather in 1935 for ten years of valuable membership.

One of the greatest services of the C.S.P.A. is its annual rating contest in which thousands of high school papers are judged by experts. Since 1929, when the project was begun, Durham High's publication has climbed from third place to the highest rating, medalist, which the Hi-Rocket has merited for ten years. Local delegates to the 1946 convention at Columbia University returned with a first-place rating of which we may be proud, considering the post-war restrictions which faced this year's staff.

The Hi-Rocket celebrates its twenty-sixth year with an enviable record in journalism which future staffs must work to surpass.

"Oh . . . Oh . . . Ohh . . . what witches brew was that? It's terrible!"

These were the remarks made by the "lucky" new members when they were initiated this year. Everyone was made happy, though, by the wonderful eats, and by the satisfaction of becoming a member of the oldest girls' literary society of Durham High School. In view of this fact, we presented to the school library a book "Days in Chapel Hill" by Chamberlain. This book is the story about the woman for whom our club is named, Cornelia Spencer. We are indeed proud of our rapidly progressing club.

Adviser: BETTY CLUTZ

Rap! Rap! Rap! The gavel of President Watkins (or Thornton) always called us to order immediately, for we had, in all meetings, stressed parliamentary procedure. Our experience in conducting meetings efficiently will surely prove invaluable, for the world demands coöperation and efficient leadership.

Every member, at some time during the year, helped plan and present the society's programs—varied programs consisting of debates, talks, and round-table discussions.

Adviser: MISS MARGUERITE HERR

This year under Miss Herr's jet-propelled leadership the Page has soared to new heights in this haven of literary societies.

From the first meeting in September (a lesson in parliamentary procedure) to the big banquet in May, the Page boys have been "on the ball." The programs have stressed talks, debates, and discussions of problems such as compulsory military training, the veterans' education, and school improvements. Outstanding talks by Richard Sanders, distinguished young lawyer, and by Principal C. E. Cooke highlighted two of the meetings.

All in all, a great year!

Competition for the annual society award, given to the best all-round senior in the group, has been keen. Everyone has coöperated in the programs and numerous hidden talents have been unearthed.

Adviser: BELLE HAMPTON

Believing that the motto, "Qui non profeit, deficit," i.e., "He who accomplishes nothing, fails," is far more than ordinary words, the Southgate Literary Society girls planned varied programs during the year. Debates, favorite poems, short stories, musical and quiz programs helped us accomplish our aim; that is, to strive constantly for proficiency in public speaking and a broader knowledge of current literary subjects.

"Glamor in the Poconos".....a side-splitting comedy
 "The Trap".....a revealing mystery
 "Red Roses".....a tragic drama

This notice, that we posted in every room in school, represented our central project for the year. These contrasting types of plays made it possible for our members to portray characters under different atmospheres. The variety displayed the true acting ability inherent in our club.

Thespian Dramatics Club

Adviser: FRANCES BRIGGS

With its ever-increasing membership, the youngest dramatic club in Durham High began its third year with only a few experienced actors. Most of the members were untried students but our programs were designed to give as many actors as possible the chance to display their talents.

"The Valiant" was the result of the club's efforts to present a truly dramatic performance. This play was quite a change from the numerous comedies which have been dramatized in the past.

Playmakers Dramatics Club

Adviser: MARY ELIZABETH SUITT

Stage fright, "wounded, writhes in pain and dies among his worshippers" in his battle with Poise. Our programs, made up of interesting talks, short plays, skits, or monologues, brought us all so frequently before an audience that we learned to feel at home there.

The grand climax of our efforts is always the presentation of a good play to the student body—generally a one-act play because it is best suited to the talents of inexperienced players. This year's play was "Overtones," a theatrical novelty that presented two cultured women talking to each other very politely while their real or primitive selves in the background said the things that were only implied by their conversation. Nancy Atkins, Mary Alice Pearce, Anne Tillett, and Leonora Townsend did it. Remember?

FOREIGN LANGUAGE CLUBS

El Club Español

Adviser: FAYE CHAMPION

"El Club Español" with its new adviser, Miss Faye Champion, enjoyed its largest enrollment since it was organized in 1941.

In the tradition of the fun-loving Spanish people, the enthusiastic members celebrated during the year with the liveliest of hay rides in the fall, and with a gay banquet in the spring.

Our programs consisted of songs, poems, stories, and discussions in the Spanish tongue. We are confident that our club activities have made us better "good neighbors."

Je veux vous dire de la visée et les activités du Cercle Français pendant la dernière année. Notre visée était apprendre plus de français par les programmes intéressants qui ont consistés à chanter les chansons français et beaucoup d'autres choses.

Pour devenir une membre du Cercle Français il fallait faire un grade de "A." Après le première six semaines on a invité les élèves nouveaux des classes français à joindre le cercle.

The Latin Club

Adviser: LOIS C. CHRISTIE

"Inter Nos" constitutes the Durham chapter of "The Junior Classical League of America." We have a charter and a constitution, based on the organization of the Roman Republic. We wear the sterling silver J.C.L. key and subscribe to "Auxilium Latinum," an interesting Latin magazine.

Our purpose is to pass on the torch of classical civilization, for we believe that an acquaintance with the civilizations of Greece and Rome will help us to understand and appraise the modern world.

Designed accordingly, our programs included conundrums, plays, jokes, illustrated talks pertaining to Roman life, and songs and prayers in Latin. We contributed to the cause pictures, posters, calendars, costumes, scrap books, and seasonal greeting cards of classical nature.

Long live Latin!

Gather round, you nature lovers! Here you may find kindred spirits. Whether as explorers in the field or as listeners and speakers in our more formal programs, we have throughout the year felt a keen sense of the unity of our interests and purposes.

One of the most interesting programs of the year was a study of plastic surgery which has immeasurably helped to rehabilitate our boys who were wounded in action. Actual photographs of patients before and after the use of plastic surgery were examined, and new developments in this field were discussed. As for our rambles through the woods—we senior members will treasure them among our favorite memories.

"Hold it a minute, please. Now smile and watch the birdie!"

You're right, our Camera Club is made up of students with one common interest—photography.

The aim of the Club for this year was to help those interested in this work to grasp a higher knowledge of it. Through illustrations and through explanations we took a big step toward reaching our goal.

Discussions of shutter speed, meters, portraits, lenses, film, trick shots, and the art of developing and enlarging film, have helped all to get a clearer understanding of the camera and its functions.

OFFICERS—Elva Lawrence, Martha Sue Johnson, Ruth Harrell, Mary Helen Culbreth, Marie Johnson, Peggy Lipscomb.

We assistants had some interesting meetings. We devised ways and means of celebrating such special occasions as Book Week. Remember those unusual exhibits we helped prepare? We think this year's exhibit was worthy of the great interest it attracted. Then there was the time Miss Lewter was called upon to arrange the display in the Duke Power Company window. We helped her print the signs and arrange the attractive dolls and books of all nations into what turned out to be a work of art. Were we proud! Our meetings were not all filled with such projects, of course. We had also many interesting literary programs that are sure to influence our reading pleasure when school days are over.

Commercial Club

Advisor: Ruth Cordle

One of the oldest but most interesting and wide-awake clubs in our school is the Commercial Club. It has successfully functioned for many years. The aim of the club is: "To build the four 'ships': ownership, partnership, leadership, and citizenship." This thought is further stressed by the motto: "He can who thinks he can."

The Commercial Club stresses the importance of organization and co-operation. The plan of the club is: first, to work for and with the school; second, to work with the organizations in the school.

Perhaps the reason for its success is the fact that there is a group called the cabinet, composed of the officers, representatives of the various commercial classes, and adviser, Miss Ruth Cordle, who plan for the club meetings and work behind the scenes to accomplish the purposes of the club.

The cabinet keeps each group informed as to the activities and progress of the Club. It meets once a month and discusses the business of the Club. Once a month, the entire Commercial Club holds its meeting.

This year the programs were varied and interesting, one of the highlights being a "Truth and Consequence" program.

The social, a "Spring" party, climaxed the year.

Hi-Y Club

Adviser: SEATON HOLT

*"This noble example, to his sheep he gave,
That first he wrought, and afterward he taught."*—Chaucer.

Honesty in all our relationships, generosity in our monthly gifts to the unfortunate, and regularity in attendance at our own churches characterize the policy followed by the Hi-Y Club. With the purpose of creating, maintaining, and extending throughout the school and community a high standard of Christian character, our club rose to new heights of service, recognition, and training.

That we are succeeding is apparent in all our activities. The election of Whit Cobb as Vice-President of the State Hi-Y organization during its conference at High Point makes it especially evident. Seven boys from our club attended this conference.

Our social life? We had two hay rides, two banquets, and a dance during the year. We have our fun—and plenty of it!

Current Events Club

Adviser: BELLE C. GHOLSON

A modern counterpart of the country store cracker-barrel and pot-belly-stove gatherings of other years, the Current Events Club evaluated the plan of the United Nations Organization and the activities of the local traffic cop with equal self-possession. Thanks to our exhaustive discussions of foreign, national, and local news, we were able to keep adequately abreast of the times—a truly Herculean accomplishment during our three momentous high school years!

Art Club

Adviser: MARY L. MASON

"A picture is worth ten thousand words," quoth the Chinese sage.

Pictures, to the members of the Art Club, are things to be both observed and created. With plenty of enthusiasm we read the message of others, during several pilgrimages to exhibits at Duke University, but we didn't stop there—not with Apollo's messenger urging us to express our ideas. Our friends marveled at the artistic creations we produced on mere paper with simple, unglamorous pencils, pens and brushes. They gazed with suitable admiration at our sketches of Mr. Cooke, our fellow club members, and natural settings. As for the Christmas cards we made for the faculty and administration—well, the "town's still talking!"

Bible Club

Adviser: EDNA KING

"A tear trickled slowly down my cheek; then another," said one of those who saw our Easter Pageant. "I don't know of anything that has ever made me feel the meaning of Easter more."

Our pageant was indeed very effective. We especially congratulate Ramona Earp, Mary Helen Culbreth, and Arthur Osteen who played their leading roles so well. All who took part are justifiably happy over their success.

The pageant, "He Lives," was an outstanding project for the year, but we consider our regular programs important, too. When the club met there were well-planned devotions, Bible quizzes with prizes, songs, interesting talks by visiting missionaries, and piano music by our talented fellow students. Our project that kept the club in the limelight throughout the year was the regular presentation over the loud-speaker system of brief morning devotions. We believe that our activities have proved themselves to be well worthwhile.

Mixed Chorus

Adviser: WILLIAM P. TWADDELL

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast," they say, and they are about right. We go to the mixed chorus meeting after a hum-dinger of a test feeling like the most savage of savage beasts. What happens after five minutes of singing? We find ourselves ready to purr like contented kittens.

The Mixed Chorus is the largest choral organization in the school. It is made up of members of the boys' and girls' choral classes plus some interested students whose schedules do not allow them to take chorus for credit. There are three divisions of the Mixed Chorus as far as the public is concerned: Boys' Chorus, Girls' Chorus, and Concert Group. The Concert Group, made up of selected voices from the whole Mixed Chorus, is the one most called upon to make public appearances. It is in great demand throughout the year to entertain the students in the auditorium and to perform for such local clubs as the Lions, Rotary, and Kiwanis.

The Mixed Chorus gave a very successful concert in November—the first in several years. The Boys' Chorus, Girls' Chorus, Concert Group, and soloists all worked together to present a beautiful program. At Christmas time the Mixed Chorus joined with all the other school choral groups in the city to sing a program of Christmas music at the First Baptist Church. It was a revival of one of our favorite pre-war customs. Another favorite pre-war custom revived was our participation in the Spring Audition in Greensboro on April 25th and 26th. In the audition our boys rated 1+, our girls, 1, and our mixed chorus group, 2+.

Our singing school days were happy days. We'll not forget them.

Future Homemakers of America

Adviser: FRANCES E. WOOLWORTH

"A woman's place is in the home."

Many a man still cherishes that old-fashioned notion, though he may hesitate a bit before expressing it to our modern career women. Old-fashioned? Just between you and me, we future homemakers in an electrical age don't find the notion altogether repugnant. We like to sew, to plan, to cook. Besides, the last we heard, the short-cut to a man's heart is still through his stomach.

The motto, "Toward New Horizons," expresses our purpose. Founded June 11, 1945, the Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of white students of homemaking in junior and senior high schools of the United States.

Junior Needlework Guild

Adviser: MARGUERITE M. HERR

To lend to those less fortunate a helping hand—that has always been the aim of our Junior Needlework Guild just as it has been the aim of the Durham Needlework Guild of which our organization is a part. The immediate purpose of our guild is to collect money and clothing for the needy children of Durham.

Although it is a girls' organization, boys who contribute money become known as "money members." The guild is undoubtedly the largest organization in the school; this year, as usual, nearly every girl was a member.

The arrangement of members into groups of eleven, one director and ten members, made possible the speedy and efficient collection of the clothes contributed—two clean garments from each member. The clothing gathered and reports made, the directors, aided by Miss Herr, arranged an attractive display of all their collection in the cafeteria balcony. After seeing the impressive display, who can doubt that the Junior Needlework Guild really deserves its prominent place in our scrapbook

Just think! $48.00 collected! 793 garments contributed!

Boys' Monogram Club

Adviser: PAUL G. SYKES

In ancient Greece victors of athletic contests at Olympia were honored by greatly coveted wreaths of wild olive. Not so our leading athletes! Not for us such perishable awards! We preferred our more substantial "D's."

Boys who won a letter in any sport at Durham High School became members of the Monogram Club—an organization whose purpose has always been to promote athletics in the school. If you ever wondered who sponsored the basketball games and other sports programs within the school, worry your little head no longer. It was the Monogram Club.

Girls' Monogram Club

Adviser: NELL LEITNER

The school Amazons? Well, we are, in a way. At least we love athletics as much as the Amazons, but we aren't making any pretensions to being warriors.

We peace-loving Amazons are easily recognized by the Durham High School "D" worn proudly on our sweaters. The boys aren't the only ones to earn the privilege! We girls earned the two hundred points required for each letter by participating in girls' sports.

Once adorned with our letters, we automatically became members of the Girls' Monogram Club and participated actively in the club's efforts to encourage girls' athletics in the school.

Elliott Math Club

Adviser: MRS. ROSALIE C. ELLIOTT

"I don't get it!"

Well, we do. No mathematical trick can stump us!

Our club maintained, this year, its high standard of interesting programs. We made reports on the history, meaning, and use of mathematics; we enjoyed numeral tricks, problems, and puzzles.

Most outstanding was our visit to Dr. W. W. Rankin's mathematical laboratory at Duke University. Dr. Rankin displayed and explained to the members the charts, instruments, graphs, and other materials useful to the mathematician. The purpose he expressed there in an inscription may well be called our own:

"Let all interested in mathematics enter, and leave with more understanding."

Bespectacled Fred Emerson, former Wake Forest College gridiron star, took over the reins at Durham High School at the beginning of the 1945 season and piloted the Bulldogs to seven victories in a rigid 10-game schedule.

Assisted by backfield Coach Paul Sykes and line Coach Steve Maronic, the shy Emerson applied his gridiron tactics to the wearers of the Crimson and White and the hustling youngsters showed what they had learned by gaining a runner-up berth to Raleigh in the Eastern Class A Conference race.

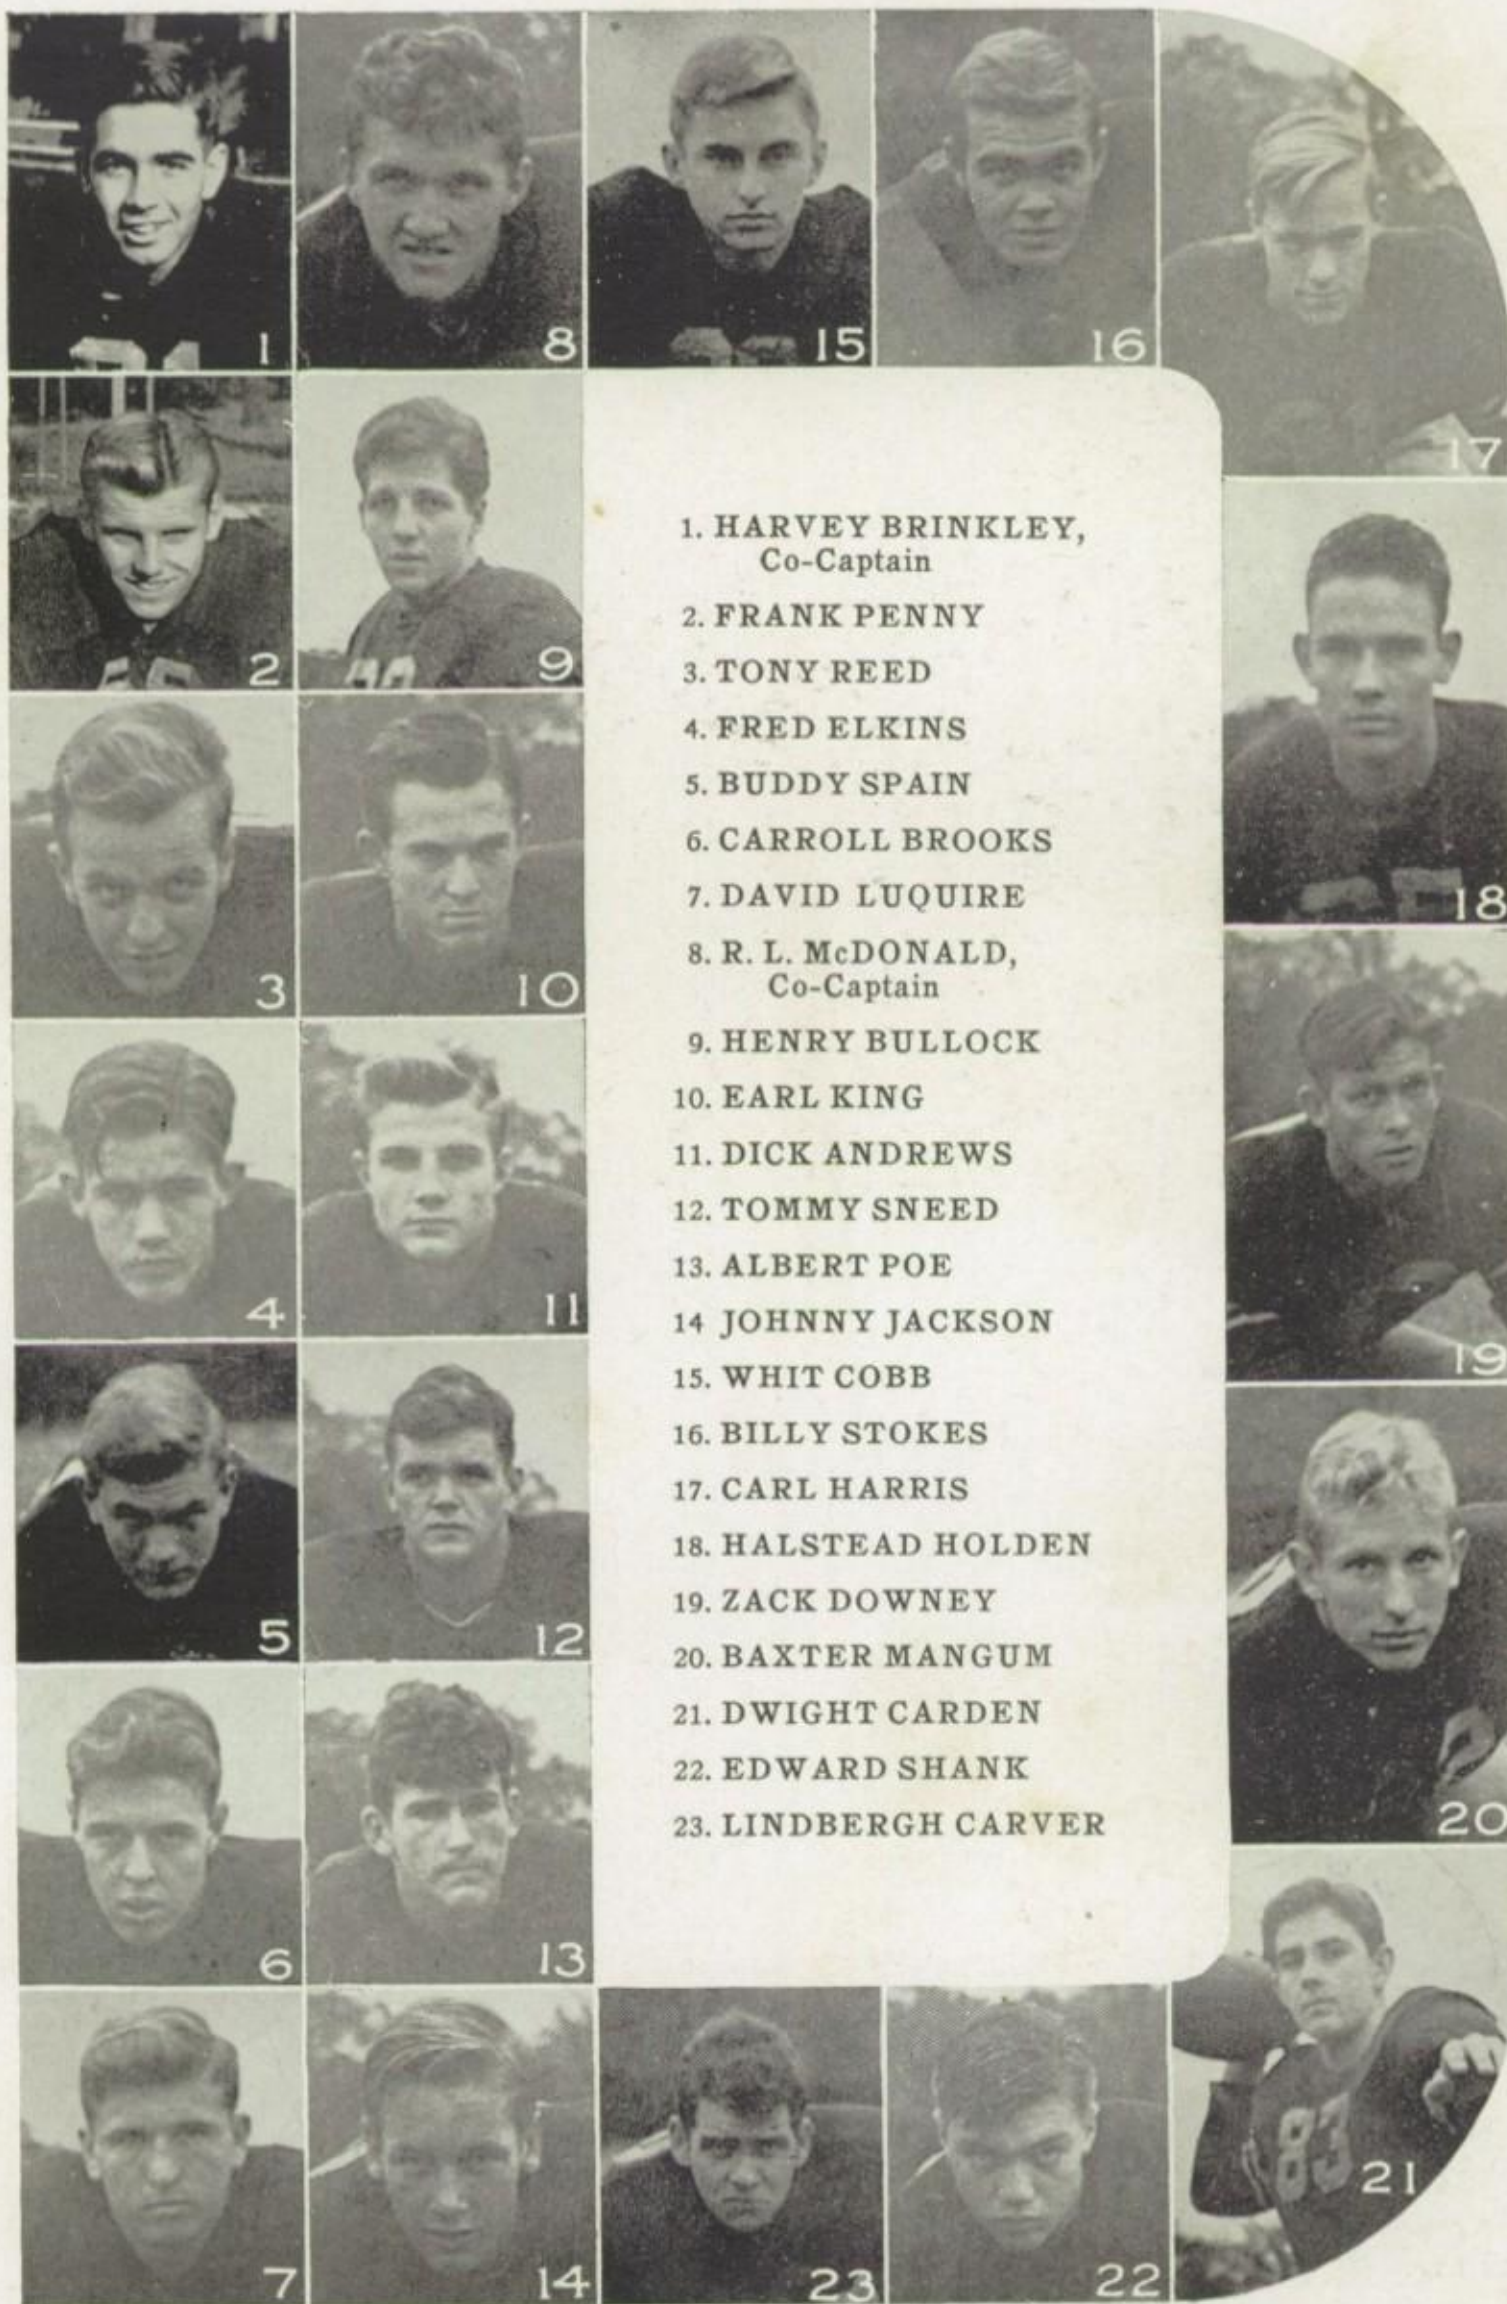

One of the Bulldogs' three defeats came at the hands of their ancient foe, Raleigh, while the other two losses were suffered to Greensboro and Senior High of Miami, Fla.

However, Durham High's other seven opponents were held scoreless to give the Bulldogs a 148 to 27 advantage in total points scored.

Co-Captains Harvey Brinkley and R. L. McDonald along with All-Southern and All-State Frank Penny sparked the footballers. The versatile Penny represented Durham in the annual Shrine game at Charlotte.

Coached by Paul Sykes and captained by lanky Whit Cobb, Durham High's basketballers of 1946 romped to their ninth straight Eastern Class A Conference championship and their seventh State title in the same number of years.

After winning nine of their 10 starts during the regular scheduled season, the Bulldogs went on to defeat Wilson in the Conference playoff and edge Greensboro in the State championship contest at Chapel Hill.

The Sykesmen also made good showings in the Duke-Durham Southern Tournament and the Eastern Tournament at Glens Falls, N. Y.

Captain Cobb was high scorer among the Bulldogs and Earl King, Tony Reed, Frank Penny, Bill Stokes and R. L. McDonald helped compose the regular five.

MR. PAUL SYKES, Coach

Track

Denied of the State crown last year, Durham High's track team wrote a beautiful finish to a successful sports season by copping first-place honors in the annual meet which was held at Chapel Hill.

Having already won two regular scheduled meets, Coach Cliff Baucom's Bulldog cinder-men completely outclassed all of their opponents in the State contest to bring the second State title of 1946 back to the old Friendly City.

R. L. McDonald and Henry Bullock served as co-captains for the Bulldogs who were well represented in the "C" Club meet at Washington, D. C. All five Durham representatives had qualified for the meet when it was rained out. The Durham High lads were unable to return for the rescheduled meet since they were in the midst of examinations.

Results of the season follow:

Won State championship.

Won a dual meet with Greensboro.

Won a triangular meet with Raleigh and Wilmington.

Shown above is the Durham High state champion track team. From left to right, First row: C. Harris, M. Galifianakis, D. Warren, P. Browning, T. McDonald, W. Copeland, D. Bevington, F. Warren, W. Umstead, B. Melvin. Second row: W. B. Kirkland, H. Watkins, H. Holden, B. Byrd, B. Spain, P. Davies, P. Stallings, L. McLeod, E. McDonald. Third row: S. Gladstein, Mgr., R. L. McDonald, B. House, W. Galifianakis, D. Boyd, E. Townsend, B. Newman, Darkis, H. Bullock, D. Carden, J. Daniels, Mgr., and C. R. Baucom, Coach.

Fred Emerson had a tough time in his first year as Durham High baseball coach. The Bulldog diamond performers scored a 21-19 victory over Goldsboro in the first scrap of the season but not once again throughout the ten-game season did they win a contest.

Harvey Brinkley, who was one of three lettermen back at the start of the campaign, was elected captain. The biggest part of the team was made up of Junior High School youths and these youngsters served notice that they will be very much in the picture when the 1947 diamond season rolls around.

Tennis

The 1946 Durham High School tennis team ran roughshod over two opponents during the regular scheduled season and made a strong bid for State honors in the State meet at Winston-Salem.

Whit Cobb, entered in the singles competition at Winston-Salem, advanced to the finals before losing out while the double's team, composed of Tommy Southerland and Duncan Nelson, entered the semi-final round before dropping out.

In the two season matches, only one point was racked up against the Bulldogs, that by Maury High of Norfolk, Va.

Paul Sykes, chief of the Bulldog's athletic board, was coach of the netters.

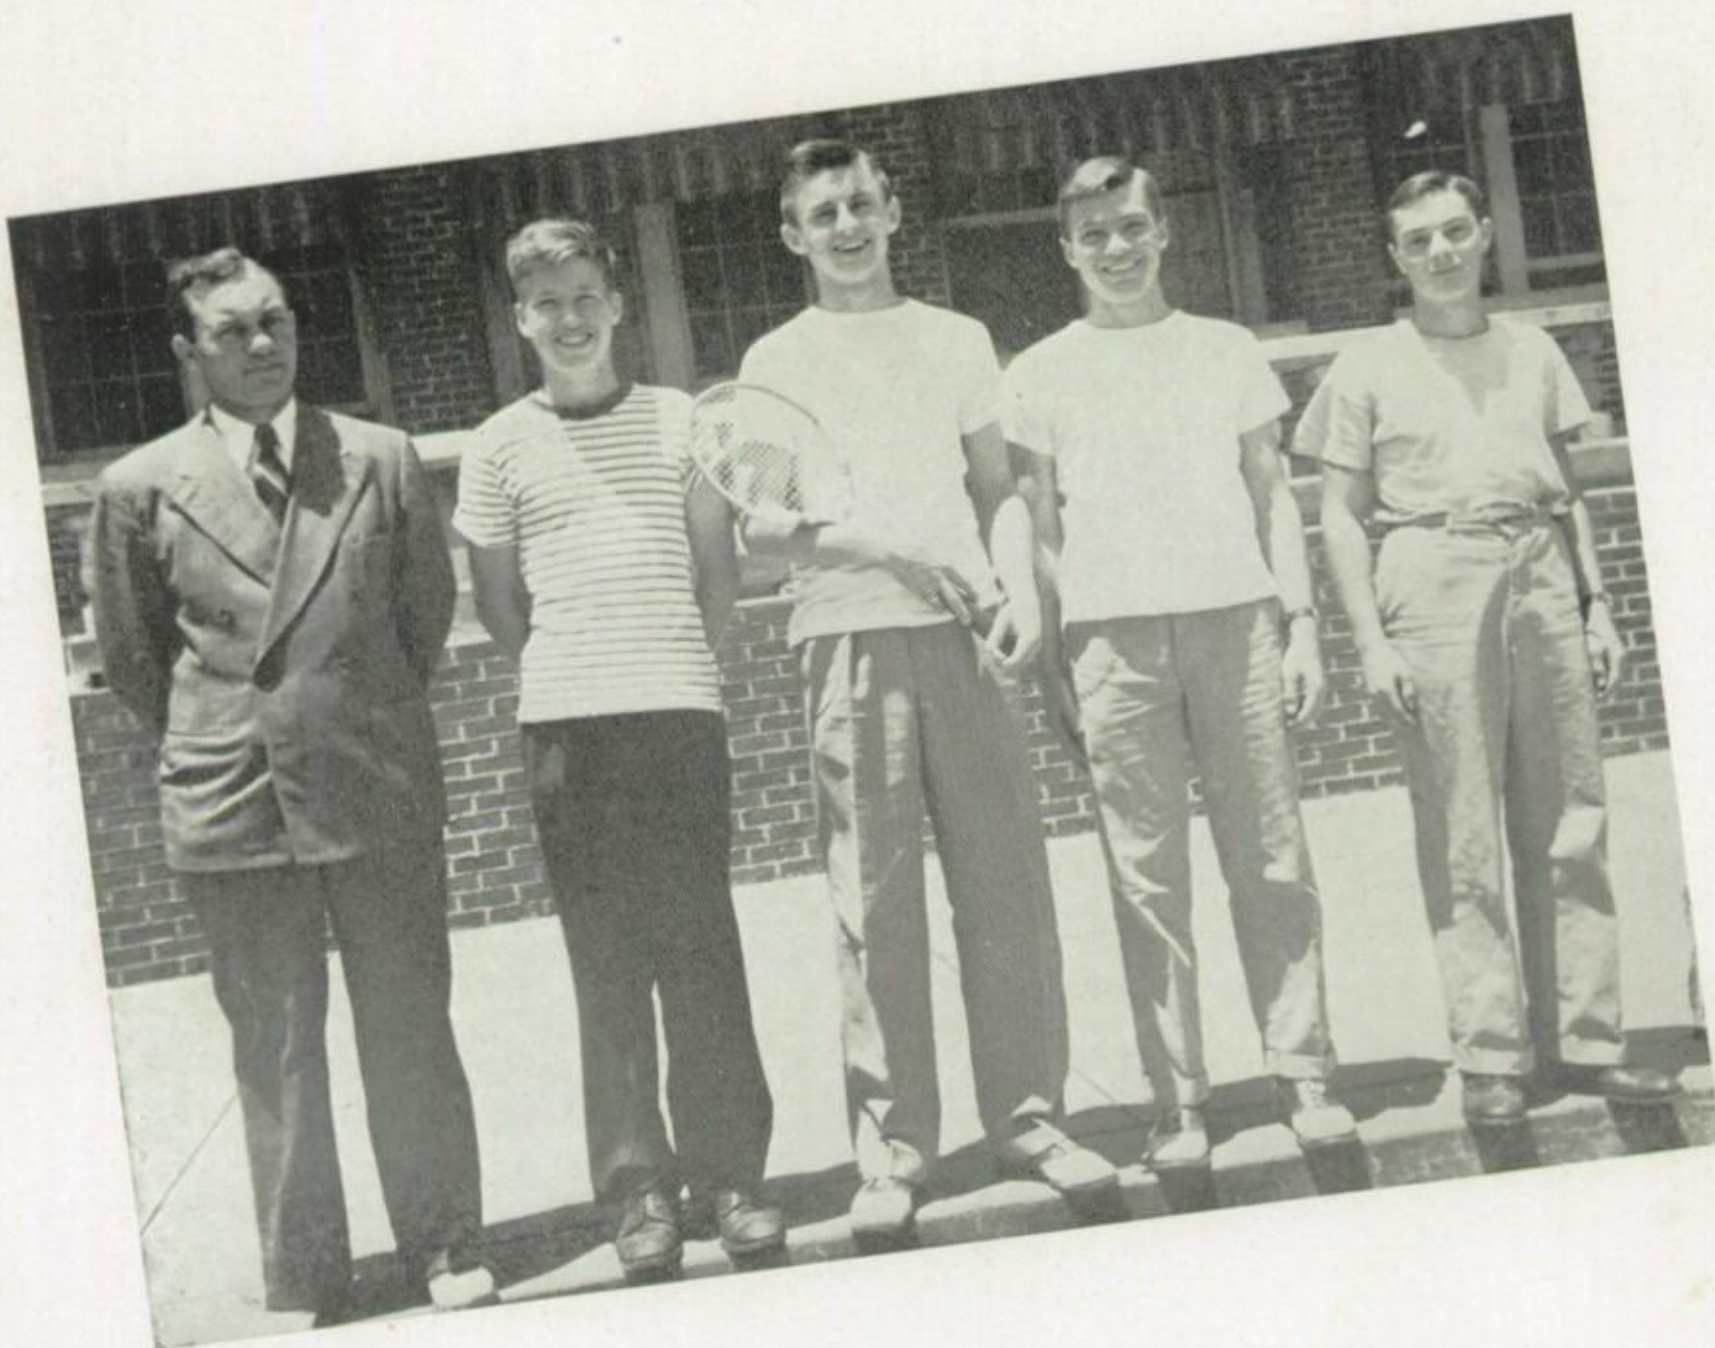

Results of the season follow:

Durham (8).....	Norfolk (1)
Durham (9).....	Burlington (0)

STATE MEET AT WINSTON-SALEM:

Singles man got to the finals—Whit Cobb.

Doubles team got to semi-finals—Tommy Southerland, Duncan Nelson.

TENNIS TEAM—Mr. Sykes, Coach; Tommy Southerland, Whit Cobb, Edward Shank, Dickie Stoevers.

Golf

Durham High's 1946 golf club romped to three easy victories during the regular season, but the Bulldogs were unable to advance far in the State meet at High Point and the South Atlantic meet at Greenville, S. C.

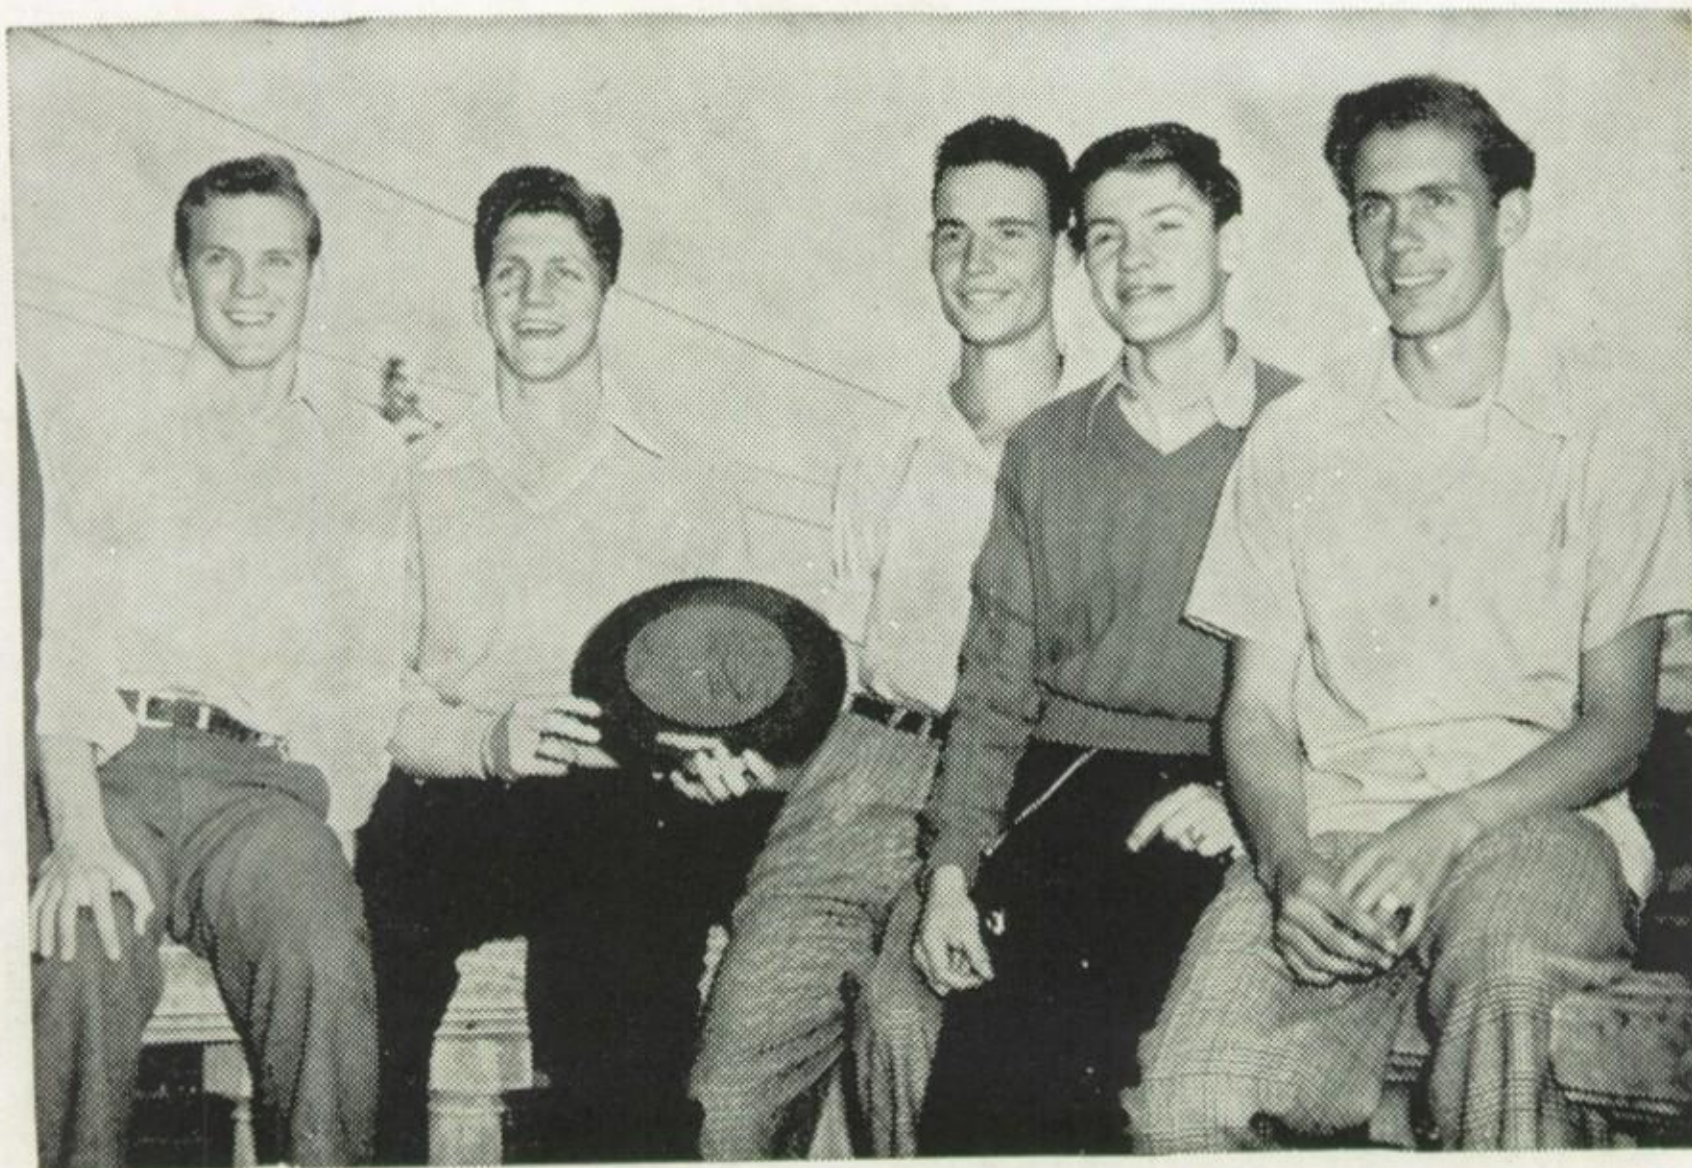

Andy Merrilies, Hillandale pro, who coached the Durham High linksmen, had only one letterman—Jennings Agner—back at the start of the season. However, Agner, who was elected captain and several promising Junior High School youths amassed a good record during the season and gave a fair warning that they will bear watching next year.

GOLF TEAM—Kneeling: Jennings Agner, David Reed. Standing: Danny Germino, Marius Suitt, Noble Arnold, Vernon Suitt, Leon Tucker.

Intramurals

Buddy Spain, Henry Bullock, Halstead Holden, Henry Watkins, Bobby Byrd.

Durham High Athletic Director Paul Sykes deserves a hearty pat on the back for the splendid manner in which he conducted the intramural program at the Bulldog school during the 1946 year.

Each and every boy in the school had the same chance to participate in the basketball and track inter-school contests.

A tournament for the various sophomore gym classes was staged during the hardwood campaign and from these teams a team to represent the entire sophomore class was chosen. This five met the junior and senior class teams in another tournament with special games being held at the Activity period. The sophomore team emerged the victor, but all of the boys were satisfied that they had a chance to compete. No members of the varsity basketball team were eligible to participate in this program.

At the conclusion of the basketball season, Sykes started a track program which was worked out on the same order. Champions were chosen for each event and gold medals were presented to the winners.

By staging these intramurals, the Athletic Director discovered many promising lads who will shine on the athletic fields of Durham High next year.

"Aw, the girls in the G.A.A. don't do nothing!" A Durham High School student (male) spoke.

Well, chum, "nothing" is a good description of what you know about the G.A.A. Besides, with your double-negative you're unintentionally admitted that we do something—so there!

True, we don't engage in interscholastic competition, but we work just as hard at our intramural sports and tournaments as any of the boys who go out for athletics. We have a lot of fun at afternoon practices and games, and the exercise helps to give us those curves and complexions that you and the other boys are always making eyes at!

OFFICERS—Margaret Russell, President; Patsy Fowler, Vice-President; Barbara Beal, Secretary; Frances Taylor, Treasurer.

Ann Rogers, B. Sewell, C. Minton, I. Perry, M. S. Johnston, Z. Angier, F. Mellon.

The Durham High School Band

The Concert Band is ready to play while the majorettes stand at attention.

We are proud of the Durham High Band and its reputation that puts it right up near the top. Fronted by the color-guard, the strutting drum major, and the beautiful, high-stepping majorettes, the flashing maroon ranks of our band are known the state over.

A loyal supporter of all school activities, the band was a busy, energetic organization during football season, parading, cheering and entertaining for every home game, and accompanying the team to Raleigh and to Wilmington. Outstanding in community service, the band played concerts for service men, added pep to political rallies, and high-lighted many parades, including the Army Day parade in Wilson, the Red Cross parade in Durham.

The concert season found the band keeping up the good work. A series of concert programs were given, presenting good music to the public. The Concert Band won second rating in the Regional Contest, and David Eiteman, first chair trombonist, won first rating in the State-Contest. Six players represented Durham at the All-State Band Clinic in Greenville.

Behind all these activities and responsible for their success were Lewis H. Enloe, Director, and a smooth-running, efficient military system student government headed by Captain Donald Draughon and First Lieutenant Harold Andrews. A dramatic close to a year of activity, the band participated in a giant music festival sponsored by the Coöp Club at Duke University's Page Auditorium.

This is the way the Band looks when it is prepared to march
